Introduction

Our God split the rocks and gave them drink.

The introduction may be repeated after the last refrain as a coda.

- (1) Hear my teaching, O my people;
- (2) incline your ears to the words of my mouth
- (3) I will open my mouth in a a parable;
- (4) I will declare the mysteries of ancient times. R.

- (1) That which we have heard and known,
- (2) and what our forebears have told us,
- (1) We will not hide from their children.
- (2) We will recount to generations to come
- (3) your praiseworthy deeds and your power, O God,
- (4) and the wonderful works you have done. R.

- (1) You worked marvels in the sight of their forebears,
- (2) in the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.
- (3) You split open the sea and let them pass through;
- (4) you made the waters stand up like walls. R.

- (1) You led them with a cloud by day,
- (2) and all the night through with a glow of fire.
- (1) You split the hard rocks in the wilderness
- (2) and gave them drink as from the great deep.
- (3) You brought streams out of the cliff,
- (4) and the waters gushed out like rivers. R.
